TESTIMONY OF O. K. STENDER, ESTATE OF JAMES CAMPBELL

My name is Oswald Stender; I am the Chief Executive Officer for the Estate of James Campbell. I am here today to respond to your inquiry as to the Estate's plans for Lanikuhonua.

As you know, Lanikuhonua was used many years by Alice Kamokila Campbell as her home which she shared with her family and friends. She was deeply committed to perpetuating the Hawaiian culture and used the facilities at Lanikuhonua toward this end.

It is the intention of the Estate that Lanikuhonua continue to be used for this purpose. Our plans for the 21-acre Lanikuhonua area show two separate and distinct uses, each supportive of the other. The northerly portion of the site will continue its current use as a commercial (luau) entertainment facility. The southern portion of the area - named by Mrs. Campbell as Lanikuhonua (where the sky or heavens meet the earth) - will be a center for private and Hawaiian cultural activities.

Operationally we intend to treat both of these areas as distinctly separate and apart. The existing commercial (luau) activity, which employs approximately 125 people, most of whom live in Waianae, will be improved to facilitate a more permanent operation -- to better manage the current 400 to 600 tourists six nights a week. New facilities will include improved food handling facilities, convenience items sales, parking, utilities and access.

On the other hand, Lanikuhonua will be used for occasional community and private group functions, an Hawaiian cultural activity center and a repository for Hawaiian arts, crafts and significant artifacts from the Honouliuli area as well as Campbell family heirlooms.

Lanikuhonua is steeped in tradition for the Campbell family. It has, therefore, been excluded from the area to be developed for the West Beach project, will continue to be owned by the Estate, and set aside to serve as a touchstone to a rich Hawaiian heritage. It is intended to serve as a site for the exhibition of Hawaiian dance, sports, arts and crafts. Funds for development and operation of the site will be provided, in most part, by income from the adjacent commercial luau facility. The Lanikuhonua Cultural Institute, a non-profit corporation, has already been established to carry on and manage the activities of the center. Hawaiian cultural organizations, hula halaus, and school groups will be encouraged to use this site and to participate in scheduled functions and workshops for exhibiting and learning skills of Hawaiian culture. A central performance/gathering area will provide an open space for large groups and an adjacent thatched halau will provide covered area for classroom and informal activities. It is anticipated that Lanikuhonua will accommodate such activities as the Prince Lot Hula Festival; the Liliuokalani Hula Kahiko Festival; perhaps a mini-Kalakaua Merry Monarch and Kamehameha hula festival; an arboretum of endemic Hawaiian plants; teaching and exhibition of Hawaiian games; lauhala weaving; canoe and tapa making, etc.

Lanikuhonua is a special place, both culturally and environmentally. Its use and accessibility must be properly managed and controlled. We believe our plans for Lanikuhonua will accomplish this objective.

9. When Cy has seated himself, m.c. mentions that the ho'okupu of new chants for Hōkūle'a and crew begins (earlier an announcement of translations of new mele kāhea was made as part of the ho'okipa). Each mele will be preceded by the reading of its English translation. After the first reading of the English translation "Holo Pono 'O Hōkūle'a", Pualani chants the mele standing and facing crew members....then Ellen, Nalani, Mapuana, Leina'ala and finally Kalani Akana.
10. When Kalani ends his mele he returns to sit once again with Cy and kahu Kaupu moves forward faces crew and audience (kahu may want to do this on stage) and offers his christian pule in celebration and thanksgiving of the return of Hōkūle'a to Hawai'i.
11. When kahu ends his pule, Manu begins once again "Ea Mai Hawai'i" for the recession of the chanters and kähili (female chanters and composers may want to remain, if they do that is fine, but if they wish to leave they may follow kähili bearers and male chanters, kahu if you wish to leave, too, you may join the recession).

From Honolulu...on Highway One Freeway go past Makakilo Exit and Campbell Industrial Park Exit. Highway One becomes Farrington Highway.

Immediately past Honokai Hale Sub-Division (there will be a sign) on Farrington Highway make a left turn (makai) onto a dirt road. Look for a guard house and follow the dirt road straight down. You will see a sign which indicates Lanikuhonua or Paradise Cove...take a right...and head towards the ocean. Lanikuhonua is located on the Honolulu side.

October 29, 1986

Aloha Welcome Home Committee Members,

I know that at our meeting on Wednesday, October 22,
we decided on the following price structure for the luau:

- a) $10.00 General Public
- b) $2.00 Children six years of age and under
- c) $5.00 for Crew Members (5 tickets per family)

After reviewing our costs, the ticket committee felt that the pricing structure had to be changed to meet our expenditures. We recommend the following revised pricing structure:

- a) $10.00 General Public
- b) No children discounts
- c) $7.00 for Crew Members (3 tickets per family)

Only 1,300 tickets will be printed because that is all that the food committee can accomodate. Anyway, we can discuss this further on Sunday. Look forward to seeing you.

Love, Maui

office about utilizing Sea Life as a luau site, the following information has come to light.

Date/ Time: The park holds luaus 4-5 times a week and the dates 24 May 87 or 31 May 87 are both scheduled for luaus during the early evening. The Welcome Home Luau would need to be scheduled to begin at around 8- 8:30 p.m..

Cost/ Luau: The 1987 prices are currently at a range of $ 17.75- $ 18.65 (subject to change) per 1000 people, including tax and gratuity. This includes the run of the park, a water show (dropping the show does not significantly reduce cost), food, a stage with podium and six microphones, and large tent to accomodate the guests.

$/ Liquor: Liquor can be handled in one of two ways. The first is to have the guests buy their own drinks from bars that would be set up by Sea Life at different areas around the park (Well drinks and domestic beers start at about $2.25, while call drinks and imported beers run about $3.25+). The other option is to BYOB but a corkage fee of $2.50 per person will be charged as the liquor would be served by park personnel.

Security: Clients are asked to provide for their own "uniformed" security personnel.

Misc. : Parking and restroom facilities are no problem.

During last night's meeting (Mon. 06 Oct.) I did say that a friend of mine, Jay Dowsett, who is a co-manager of the park said that some things could be "worked out". I tried to reach Jay today but he is on vacation until the

Re: Sea Life Park as Luau Site Follow-up

After checking further with the Sea Life Park sales office about utilizing Sea Life as a luau site, the following information has come to light.

Date/ Time: The park holds luaus 4-5 times a week and the dates 24 May 87 or 31 May 87 are both scheduled for luaus during the early evening. The Welcome Home Luau would need to be scheduled to begin at around 8- 8:30 p.m..

This includes the run of the park, a water show (dropping the show does not significantly reduce cost), food, a stage with podium and six microphones, and large tent to accomodate the guests.

$/ Liquor: Liquor can be handled in one of two ways. The first is to have the guests buy their own drinks from bars that would be set up by Sea Life at different areas around the park (Well drinks and domestic beers start at about $2.25, while call drinks and imported beers run about $3.25+). Security: Clients are asked to provide for their own "uniformed" security personnel.

Misc. : Parking and restroom facilities are no problem.

During last night's meeting (Mon. 06 Oct.) I did say that a friend of mine, Jay Dowsett, who is a co-manager of the park said that some things could be "worked out". I tried to reach Jay today but he is on vacation until the 16th of this month. I instead talked directly to the Parks' sales office.

In conclusion, I recommend an alternative site for the following reasons: 1) The date and time factor would give the luau a late evening start; 2) Even if some "help" was offered by Mr. Dowsett, I doubt that the reduction would be significant enough to make much of a difference to the overall cost (about $ 21.00/ person), not including security.
